Chasing Horizons

Artists and partners, Debbie Mackinnon and Mike Staniford present contemporary landscape paintings that capture the essence of Tasmania's untamed beauty. Both artists share a profound passion for remote, wild places, which has led them to travel extensively around Tasmania.

Their creative process is deeply rooted in direct engagement with the environment. They immerse themselves in the landscape, making swift, expressive studies in their sketchbooks. This plein air approach allows them to capture fleeting moments and the dynamic interplay of light, texture, and form.

Mackinnon and Staniford are particularly drawn to Tasmania's diverse terrains—from distant hills and windswept trees to lichen-covered rocks, deep rivers, and towering mountains. These elements evoke a timeless drama, presenting a land seemingly untouched by time.

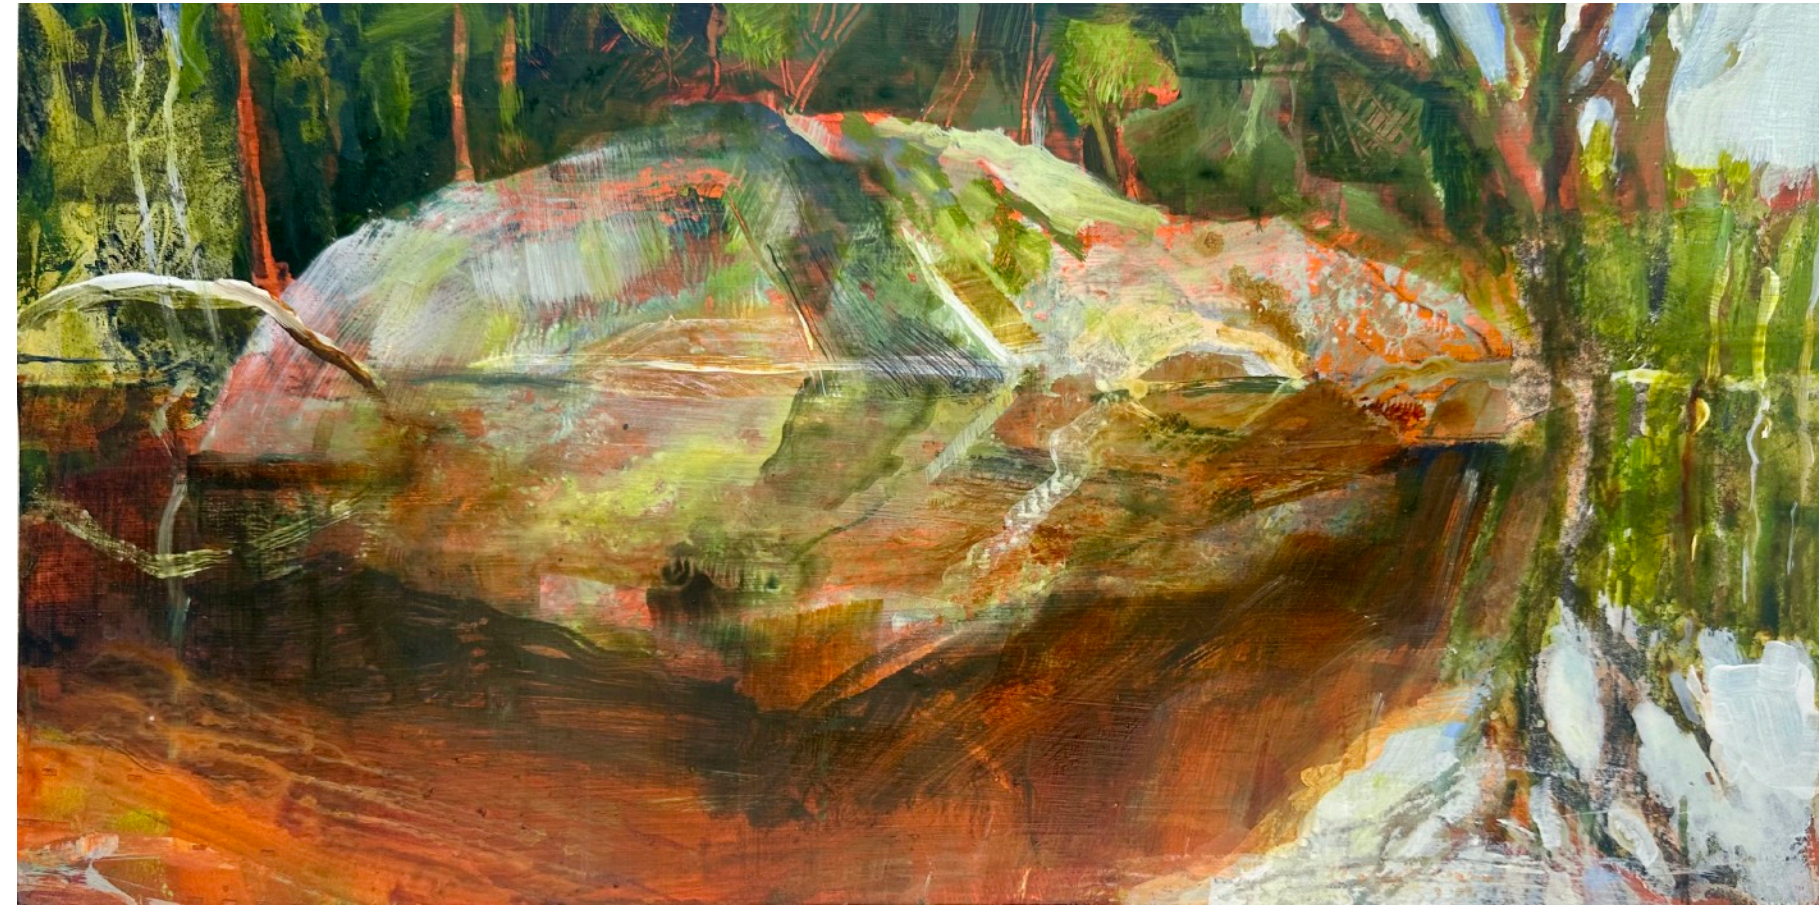

In the studio, they transform these on-site studies into richly layered paintings that convey the quiet solitude and profound wonder instilled by nature. They invite viewers to engage with these powerful landscapes, fostering a deep personal connection to the places depicted.
